

I have lived in the Portland, Oregon area for over 15 years and since discovering Airl radio station a few years ago, it has become my favorite station. It encourages me daily with songs containing a positive message, tips on parenting & ideas for improving my marriage. I appreciate that I'm not inundated with advertisements either as with most regular stations. With the amount of depression that occurs in the Northwest I believe it is imperative to offer as many encouraging and positive radio stations as possible. I think it would be detrimental to our community if Airl were displaced by an LPFM broadcaster. Thank you for listening.
